STATE POLICE READY,

While Track Guards Are Doubled.

Wilkes-Barre, Penn., Nov. 27.—The dove of peace hovered over Wilkes-Barre for a time to-day, while a committee of merchants labored with a committee of the striking carmen and representatives of the street railway company in an effort to end the strike, but when adjournment was had to-night no progress had been made. The men were then insisting on arbitrating the arbitration award, and the company that the men live up to the terms of the agreement they signed.

the strikers, are now complaining that the police and the local courts are responsible for the disorder that keeps so many off the cars. According to these the demonstrations of strike sympathizers are winked at, or eise condoned, while the strike breaker who on any chance falls into the hands of the Alderman's Court is heavily penalized. As proof of this they point to the case of Thomas McCabe, who was caught clambering into the stockade about the car barns last night. In court this morning Patrolman Michael Smellen, who arrested him, said the man tried to use a revolver, but Alderman Gibbs refused to receive a charge of carrying concealed weapons. Yesterday a new conductor found sharpening a pencil in the nublic square was held in $500 on a charge of carrying concealed weapons.
